MOOD:  guilty

Operation: Chanukah Intervention is a go. Operation: Chanukah Intervention is a go.

Duke, Wonder Woman, and the Cowboy chipped in too. Anybody want to volunteer to approach Dad with the card?

Thank you

...And there goes the weekend

But hey, we got a day and a half of this one! And I got to sleep in for two whole mornings. Too bad

I explained the nature of my mission.

and just for a sec--a semi-sec--he got this look. sort of, well...

I think it hadn't occurred to him. and he thought it should have. and he wondered why it hadn't, and also why it HAD occurred to somebody else before it occurred to him--

And all in a microsemisec. (gawd I'm good)

Then he chipped in and signed the card.

It's sort of nice to know Dad never turns that off.

k. I gave mom the card.

And she opened it and looked at the signatures and the gift certificate and said, "Thank you" in this odd little voice and then said, "Please, thank everybody very much."

And then she walked into her office and shut the door.

Did we do a bad thing, guys?

...not that I would ever use my powers for evil.

But she's typing a thank-you email as we speak. And based on the security cameras, blowing her nose a lot.

...OH!

...Oh, well. That's different.

Totally different!

Hah.

Hah!

Allergies, man.

This forced air heat is murder.

Dad is making the world safe for...uh...yeah, let me think...

D'you think he sleeps? Or do his brain hamsters run on their little wheel ALL NIGHT LONG?

You'd have to ask Duke. He's got the roomshare, usually, when there has to be one, though usually Dad bunks solo.

Duke sleeps like an angel. The Cowboy has dreams... but who doesn't? I bet I wake him up more often than he does me.

You know, there are a lot of people who'd be horrified at the idea of knowing this much about their office mates. g

At this point it would be weird not to.

You guys are just lucky you never had security detail. Politicians in their fuzzy slippers, man, before the girdle goes on. SO NOT RIGHT.
